Monthly Character Trait – Tolerance

Just a friendly reminder to dress your child appropriately for the weather. It is always better to have too many layers than not enough. Any items that may be removed (sweatshirts, coats, etc.) should have your child's initials for easy identification if it is lost! (Our lost and found gets full this time of year!)

- Please continue to help your child practice their sight words! I will begin sending these home one night a week, and they should be returned THE FOLLOWING DAY. I know this is different from last 9 weeks. We will test the kiddos the day after the books are sent home! (It's okay if they are not ready for the test, this is to be at their own pace!)
- The 100th Day of School is approaching! This year, the kiddos can wear an outfit decorated with 100 items. Feel free to be creative, but please remember that your child will need to function normally throughout the school day in their outfit.
- Please make sure to watch the newsletter for details about Catholic Schools Week! We will participate in the talent show that Friday as a class. (Watch for details about costumes, coming soon!)
- Don't forget to read each night with your kiddo. The more your child reads/is read to, the better they will get! They also have new AR goals to work on. Please send in a bookmark when they are ready for a test.
- If your child has a classroom book, please send it in to be exchanged for a new one. I know it's hard to remember over the holidays, so if you need to know what they have checked out, send me an email.
